Tsar's Declaration Overprint

The initial declaration of Tsar Nicholas II's abdication of the throne of Russia was printed in the Bulletin of the Petrograd Soviet (Council) of Workers and Soldiers Deputies on March 4, 1917 as a broadside to be posted and free of charge. It was reproduced on formula postal cards atop an orange image of the French symbol of revolution, a man wearing a Phrygian hat, with sword and text "Brotherhood, Equality and Liberty", slogans of the 1789-99 French Revolution.

[Partial text on card]
ABDICATION FROM THE THRONE

Telegram transmitted to Commander in Chief of the Navy, Captain 1st Class, Count Keppist and to Commander in Chief of the Baltic Fleet, Vice Admiral Nepomochni.

Text of the Declaration:

"In the days of great struggle against the foreign enemy who has been trying for three years to enslave our country, it is the Will of Heaven to send a new strenuous trial for all Russians.

In accordance with the State Duma, We acknowledge it is best to abdicate the Throne of Russia and to resign from the High Command. As We do not wish to part from our dearest son, We pass on the legacy to our brother Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovich with our blessings on him to ascend the throne.

We appeal to all our faithful sons of the Fatherland to fulfil their Holy Duty to it in obedience to the Tsar in his grave moment of trial for all the peoples and to help him, together with the peoples representatives and to lead Russia on a road of Victory, Prosperity and Glory. May God help Russia.

Nicholas
2nd March, 15.00 hours, 1917, Pskov.

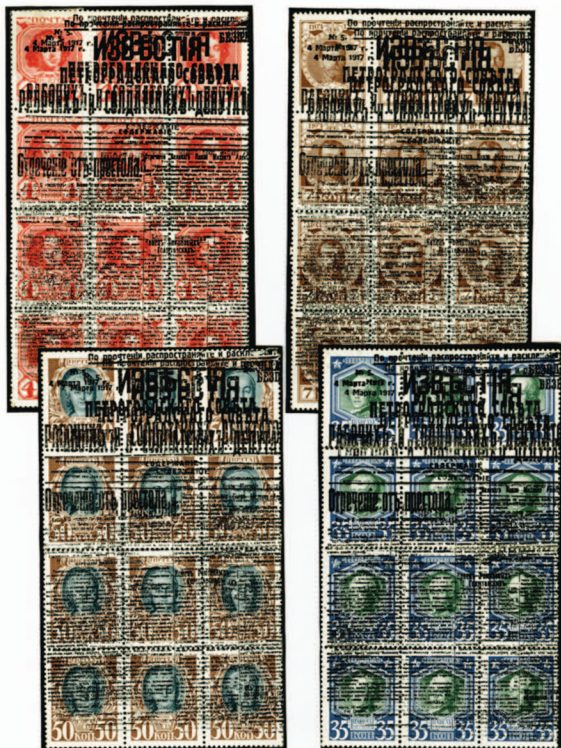

Overprints on Postal Stationery

Setting 3 is found on postal stationery letter cards that do not commemorate the Romanov dynasty. The stamp or the Imperial logo of the double-headed eagle may be overprinted.

Not surprising, doubled overprints are found on the blocks of twelve as well.

A splendid collection of these interesting stamps (On 8th August 1945 Soviet Union declared war on Japan and invaded the state of Manchukuo, which was quickly overrun by Russian, Nationalist Chinese and Communist Chinese Troops and a great amount of chaos ensued until the Communists gained full control in 1947. From the start of hostilities in 1945 until the decisive victory by the Communists in 1947 special measures had to be taken (often at a local level) by postmasters, to ensure the continuation of postal services and to provide revenue to pay themselves and their staff. The only stock of stamps available were those provided by their former employers the Government of Manchukuo. Postmasters made "Chops" out of various materials and overprinted the stamps they had. These chops usually read "Chinese Republic, Temporary Use" or similar. The stamps of Manchukuo were also overprinted for use in the Kwantung Leased Territory, which included Dairen and Port Arthur. Early in 1946, the Manchukuo Yuan was replaced by the North-Eastern Yuan. A four booklet guide "The Local Overprinted Stamps of Manchuria 1945-7" by Allen D Kerr, was used to catalogue this collection) cat. $47,000 15,000.00
